FREE SILVER COINAGE.

India's Bill Discontinuing It Discussed by Londers.

The Viceroy of India Explains the Measure—Other Opinions About the Bill.

SIMLA, June 27. In explaining to the India council the bill providing for the stoppage of free coinage of silver and other monetary measures, the adoption of which was announced yesterday, the Marquis of Lansdowne, viceroy of India, said he hoped the government would not be criticized for disposing of the important question at a single sitting.

The keynote of the scheme was rather to prevent a further fall in exchange than to raise the value of the rupee. The fixing of the provisional rate of exchange is 1s 4d, provided an automatic means of preventing the closing of the mints and the violent disturbing of exchange rates. The rate of exchange has been fixed high enough to relieve the government of the most pressing necessities, while it was within the limits of the recent fluctuations.

There should be no mistake, the viceroy said, about the facts. It was not proposed to substitute gold for the silver currency. No attempt would be made at present to fix a legal tender price for gold. While the ratio of value was mentioned, it was only provisional.

In conclusion the viceroy expressed the government's sense of the gravity of the step it was about to take. Personally he was averse to all attempts to give money commodities a fictitious value, but the time had arrived when to remain inactive was impossible. The government would be unworthy of the name if it left the thing alone. It had not taken the momentous step with light hearts. He hoped its action would be fruitful in good results, and that a sufficient reserve of gold would be accumulated to make an effective gold standard possible.

WASHINGTON, June 27. -Rai T. N. Singh, and his son, D. N. Singh, a couple of high class gentlemen of India, whose estate is near Calcutta, are in this city en route to the world's fair. In speaking of the discontinuance of free silver coinage in his native country, Mr. Singh, jr., said:

"The great question in India just now is exactly the problem that is disturbing the people of the United States and that is the silver question. The low price of the rupee, which ought to be worth two shillings, has declined to one shilling two pence, and has made times very hard and produced a general depression in business all over India. Among the various propositions for relief that have been urged by our financiers is to begin the coining of gold. At present we are without a single piece of gold coin. Whether that would relieve us or not I am not a sufficient expert in finance to tell."

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 27. -President Andrews, of Brown university, and who was an American delegate to the Brussels conference, in an interview in regard to the action of the Indian government stopping the free coinage of silver, said: "It is impossible that this scheme should bring any relief to the silver situation in England. It will make the condition of foreign exchange a little more stable as between the traders of England and the big merchants and exchanges of Bombay and Calcutta. That is to say, it will arrest the fall in the intrinsic value of coin silver in India and give a stability between the present money of India, which is silver, and the gold money of England. But in doing so it will cause a break between the value of India silver as money and its value as bullion, just such as exists between the silver money of the United States and France and the correspondent bullion. The result of the system, if persisted in, would be to impose on India full prices, such as prevail over the entire gold using world. Further, the value of silver in the rupee being so much greater than the value of the same silver, there would be an overwhelming temptation to introduce the rupee from other countries. It could be copied exactly and made of the same weight and fineness. It would be as good a coin in every respect as the one minted in India."

FOR RIOTOUS LIVING

A Bad Crawfordsville Boy Gets Behind the Bars.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 27.—For several weeks the Ross Brothers, proprietors of a variety store, have been missing money and valuables until the total amount aggregated several hundred dollars. On Saturday the thief was found to be Glenn Coppage, the nineteen-year-old son of L. J. Coppage, a prominent attorney. He had formerly been a clerk at the store, and had been discharged for petty pilfering. He was located at Lafayette on Saturday, and Tom Ross went there to identify him and the goods. Glenn had a large gripsack filled with rings, jewelry and other valuables, which he was selling at nominal prices, spending the money in riotous living. He was brought back here and placed in jail. His record is a bad one. On several previous occasions he has been saved from public disgrace by his father paying for property which he had stolen. Last winter he made himself notorious by his fights with his school teacher, Elmer Hobson. His father went to Chicago to see the world's fair on the same train which carried the boy's captors to Lafayette.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 27.—Silas Owen was brought to this city last night and lodged in jail for shooting a man named Biggs at Clay City. This morning a dispatch was received that Biggs was dead. Excitement runs high at Clay City, and threats of lynching are often heard. A close watch will be kept on the murderer.

GREENCASTLE, Ind., June 29.—Andrew Sigler, a farmer in Clinton township, was cutting grass in his yard this morning, when his eleven-year-old daughter ran in front of the machine and was struck by the sickle. One of her legs was cut off between the knee and the ankle.

CRAZY DRUNK.

Brutal Conduct of a St. Louis Police Officer.

And He Narrowly Escaped Lynching for Having Clubbed a Man Into Insensibility.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—Police Officer Christopher J. Verdon narrowly escaped lynching last night by a crowd of citizens who were horrified and incensed at his brutal treatment of Hugh McGuire, whom he had arrested after an argument about religion.

Verdon was in full uniform and crazy drunk. He became involved in a dispute with McGuire in a saloon and finally knocked the latter down, kicked and clubbed him into insensibility. He then handcuffed him so tightly that the circulation of the blood in his arms was stopped.

A crowd of citizens surrounded the drunken officer and his victim and made threats of lynching. All that was necessary was a leader and a rope, but before these could be secured Verdon and his victim were landed in the police station.

JUMPED THE TRACK.

A Big Four Engine Takes a Plunge.

Four Persons, Including the Engineer, Fireman and Two Passengers, Injured.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Four men were injured in an accident to the through night express on the Big Four road, at Eighty-first street, at 1 o'clock this morning. The injured are: W. T. Pearl, engineer; William Ellis fireman, both of Chicago; Charles G. Manvey, sheriff of Benton county, Ind., and Benjamin Sappington, of Otter View, Ind. With the exception of the engineer none of the men were badly hurt, although their wounds are painful. Between Eightieth and Eighty-first streets repairs have been made on the tracks and the locomotive striking some loose material was thrown from the rails, and, followed by the baggage car, rolled over in the ditch. Charles G. Manvey and Benjamin Sappington, who were riding in the smoker, were thrown across the aisle and severely bruised. Ellis, the fireman, jumped and escaped serious injury, but Engineer Pearl was caught in the wreck and severely injured about the head and side.

AN OHIO TRAGEDY.

An Angry Husband Becomes a Murderer.

During a Quarrel He Shoots His Wife and Then Sends a Bullet Into His Own Brain.

OTTAWA, Ohio, June 27.—A terrible tragedy was enacted a few miles west of this city last night, in which a husband, in a fit of frenzy, shot his wife and then fired a fatal shot into his own brain, dying almost instantly. Jacob L. Lyons and his family lived in a comfortable home in Greensburg township, this county. Being of a very nervous temperament Lyons was easily excited. Monday evening he and his wife had a dispute over a trivial matter. He flew into a passion and shot her, then turned the gun upon himself. His wife is still alive, but it is thought she will not recover. They leave a small family.

DOCTOR DECLINES

To Tell the Hiding Place of His Criminal Patient.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 27.—Detectives are here looking for Frederick T. Day, the ex-president of the Plankington bank, of Milwaukee. Dr. W. N. Wishard, of this city, admits that he is treating Mr. Day, but declines to state where his patient is in hiding. He says that as soon as Mr. Day is able he will return to Milwaukee and tell all he knows about the affairs of the suspended bank.

Killed a Woman.

NORFOLK, Va., June 27.—William Foreman, colored, who was released from the penitentiary three months ago, stabbed and instantly killed a colored woman named Carrie Harrington, in Portsmouth, yesterday afternoon. He fled to the country, but returned to his home and was arrested.

Glass Works Burned.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 27.—Fire broke out at the Hobbs glass works factory, owned by the United States Glass company, last night, and burned several buildings. Loss, $15,000; insured.

Standard Dollars.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The issue of standard silver dollars from mints and treasury offices during the week ended June 24 1893, was $353,141, for the corresponding period of 1892, $132,182. The shipment of fractional silver coin from the 1st to the 24th inst. aggregated $627,821.

Carl Weber, of the city treasurer's office, was at Rome City yesterday

MIRACLES.

Father Mollinger Has a Black Successor.

Hundreds of Otherwise Intelligent People Believe in the Work of Brother Day.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—Before an open air congregation of 1,000 people "Brother" Day, the colored successor of the late Father Mollinger, effected five cures at the suburbs of Sharpsburg this afternoon. Strange as it may appear, hundreds of otherwise intelligent people of that town are ready to swear to miracles in the way of cures which they say this man has performed.

In the case of one of his patients whom he made whole, he said the cure would be only temporary, since she refused to take the oath which he imposes upon all who come to him for relief.

Although the preacher is a full-blooded negro, nearly all his hearers are white. Many come from great distances, bringing their lunch baskets with them. At the end of each sermon he invites the sick and afflicted to come forward. The faith curist betrayed a deep knowledge of almost every chronic disease.

The suffering applicants would barely open their mouth before the preacher would tell them how they felt, where their pain lay, and even at what hour of the day the pain was greatest. He gives no medicine except in cases of burns or accidental pains, claiming that the cures are effected by faith alone.

In one apparent cure of a severe case of neuralgia, the patient merely took the "oath," which was to lead a Christian life and to read daily two passages of scripture, at the conclusion of which she exclaimed in a frightened tone: "Why, the pain is all gone."

Another woman, who had been a paralytic for seven years, was cured Friday, and today she stood at the gate watching the throng passing on their way to Brother Day's chapel. Her neighbors declare it is a miracle.

TERRIBLE CRIME!

A Woman Forced Her Daughter Into a Bake Oven.

Then a Fire was Lighted and the Child was Roasted to Death—She Confesses Her Crime.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—A woman named Anita Sanchez has been arrested at Piedra Groda, charged with a terrible crime.

She became angry at her eight-year-old daughter and forced her into a large baker's oven.

The inhuman woman then lighted a fire and the child was slowly roasted to death.

She confessed having committed the crime and will receive a life sentence, as the law does not provide the death penalty.

YELLOW FEVER.

A Death From It Occurred at Brunswick, Ga.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 27.—A special received here from a lumber dock, fifty-six miles distant on the Satila river, announces the death of Alfred J. Biddle, master of the American barkentine Bolta Berwind, from yellow fever. Health Officer John A. Dunwoody has given the press the following statement:

"The Berwind entered quarantine from Havana on June 15. All were well on board and reported no illness on passage. She was fumigated, entered and then went up the Satila river, fifty-six miles. Master Biddle was taken sick and was carried eight miles on shore in the country, where he died. The vessel was loaded and ready to sail. It was ordered and left for the national quarantine at Sapelo. All the crew and the vessel were thoroughly fumigated before leaving, and those in the country who came in contact with Biddle have been detained. No more danger is apprehended, every precaution having been taken and the distance from any houses being a number of miles."

EPWORTH LEAGUES.

International Convention at Cleveland, O., This Week.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—Officers and delegates are beginning to arrive for the Epworth league international conference, which begins a four day session here Thursday afternoon. At least 10,000 delegates are expected.

Music hall has been handsomely decorated with flags and bunting.

Governor McKinley will be present Thursday afternoon and deliver the address of welcome on the part of the state. Mayor Blee will welcome the visitors to the city.

Dr. Edwin A. Schell, general secretary of the league, arrived Monday and he will be followed today and tomorrow by many of the leading men in the Methodist church north and south and of Canada.

CASHIER ARRESTED.

He Caused the Wreck of a Nashville Bank.

NASHVILLE, June 27.—Will H. Scoggins, assistant cashier of the failed Commercial National bank has been arrested and placed under bonds to appear at the October term of the federal court on the charge of being cognizant of the operations which caused the wreck of the bank. A special session of the federal grand jury will be held July 26, when matters in connection with the failed bank will be considered.

Mills Close Down.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 27.—On July 1 the Niedringhaus Keller mills will close down for two weeks to make necessary repairs. The employes have presented their scale of wages for 1893-4. President Niedringhaus declares he will not sign a contract with the men, and if they insist on the wage scale being signed, he will close the mills for an indefinite period. Over 1,000 workmen will be affected.

KILLED BY A BULL.

An Angry Beast Attacks James Stephenson,

Inflicting Terrible Injuries from Which He Died—The Son Attempts to Save His Father.

WEST UNION, Ohio, June 27.—Ex-Recorder James Stephenson died yesterday in intense agony from the effects of the terrible injuries received from an angry bull.

Stephenson was in the barn yard when the beast attacked him. The animal charged him again and again, throwing him against the fence and, rearing on his feet, knocked him through a post and rail fence.

His son, seeing the act, started to assist his father. He carried a pitchfork. No sooner had he entered the lot than the enraged animal ran at him. He drove the fork into it three times, when he, too, fell under its dreadful charge. He succeeded in getting hold of the ring in its nose, when he rose to his feet. Help arrived by this time and the animal was killed.

ENGLISH ENTERPRISE.

The News of the Wreck of the Victoria Reaches London

Three and One-half Days After It Was Published in Every Daily Paper in America.

LONDON, June 27.—If any proof was required as to the astounding lack of enterprise on the part of the English press it is furnished by the apathy regarding the terrible disaster to the battle ship Victoria. No story of the accident, which occurred on Thursday last, reached London until today. Rear Admiral Markham's first message, officially reporting the disaster, arrived at the admiralty office Thursday night. A sleepy clerk at the office did not think the dispatch of sufficient importance to open it, and left it lying on the desk until hundreds of inquiries from private individuals, who had received personal dispatches, began to be received, when he awoke to the fact that the unopened envelope might contain something that would throw some light on the subject of the inquiries. None of the English papers had reporters at Tripoli or Beyrout, but the Times and Standard sent their reporters from Port Said or Alexandria, the former place being only three hundred miles from the scene of the accident and the latter four hundred miles. On Monday, three and a half days after it was known the Victoria had foundered, the Times published a mere scrap of information. Even today it has only a short dispatch from Beyrout, furnished by Reuter's Telegram company. The Standard today publishes a dispatch from Port Said, the tenor of which is similar to that furnished by Reuter's Telegram company. As soon as the fact of the disaster was known in London, the representative of the United Press telegraphed to a firm of ship agents in Beyrout, making arrangements to furnish him with a full story to transmit to the newspapers of the United States. Owing to the distance of Beyrout from the scene of the accident, the difficulty of getting the men of the fleet to talk, Rear Admiral Markham keeping them within strict bounds, and the slowness of the Turkish telegraph officials, much delay was experienced in getting a story to London. The United Press report of the affair was filed in the telegraph office Sunday morning, but did not reach London until last night. The representative of the United Press had also made arrangements for a full story upon the arrival of any of the British fleet at Malta. The report furnished by the United Press is by far a more complete story than anything that has yet been printed in the London papers. Reuter's Telegraph company furnishes the English papers, which get news from it, a short and meagre dispatch from Port Said. The only fresh point furnished by the English papers is a most ridiculous picture of Vice Admiral Tryon sinking beneath the water at the time waving a telescope at Rear Admiral Markham, who stands on the bridge of the Camperdown.

THREE CORNERED

Was the Criminal Suit Brought by Mrs. Dr. Buffum.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 27.—The jury in the suit of Mrs. Dr. Frank Buffum against her father-in-law, J. C. Buffum, her husband, Dr. Frank Buffum, and her brother-in-law, Eugene Buffum, for assault and battery, returned a verdict this morning. They find J. C. Buffum not guilty, but must pay one-half of the costs of the suit. Dr. Frank and Eugene Buffum are found guilty of assault and battery.

A MAXIMUM RATE.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen Fix One.

TORONTO, Ont., June 27.—After a long debate yesterday the grand lodge of the A. O. U. W. adopted a maximum rate of assessment for their various jurisdictions for the next three years. Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, New York, Iowa, Indiana, Texas and the supreme lodge are placed in a group at $30. The other jurisdictions average $12.

THE SHERIFF WINS

In the Habeas Corpus Case Brought Against Him.

Harry Smith Is Remanded to Jail—News of Interest in the City and State Courts.

The proceedings in habeas corpus brought by the Trades and Labor council against Sheriff Clausmeier to secure the release of Harry Smith from the county jail, where he is confined on the charge of vagrancy, were brought up again this morning in the superior court before Judge Dawson and the testimony of the sheriff, who was on the stand yesterday when court adjourned, was finished. The only other witness examined was Deputy Sheriff Myers, who testified to the arrest.

Most of the time was consumed by the attorneys in the discussion of legal points upon which the decision in the case turned, and Judge Dawson, after listening carefully to the arguments and examining the law, decided against the prisoner and remanded him again to the custody of the sheriff in the county jail, where he will be compelled to serve out his sentence, which will end in a few days.

Evidence was offered tending to show that there was no affidavit filed prior to the arrest and from that it was claimed that the conviction was consequently irregular and illegal, but Judge Dawson refused to admit any evidence tending to attack the record of the justice of the peace finding the prisoner guilty, claiming that the justice had jurisdiction and that the habeas corpus proceedings, not being in the form of an appeal, could not be used to go behind the record of the justice, unless it appeared from it that the proceedings were irregular, which did not appear to be the fact in this case.

The court stated that his inclinations would be to afford the prisoner relief from any irregularity in the proceedings, but as the record was regular public policy would forbid any interference in a case of habeas corpus no matter what hardship it might work in a particular instance. For this reason he would remand the prisoner back to jail. Had the case been taken by appeal from the justice the decision might have been different, but the whole matter rested upon the fact that appellate court had no legal right to go behind the record of the justice and go into the merits of the case.

LEGAL NEWS.

The case of the state, on the relation of James W. Stout against John O. Henderson, auditor of state, was filed in the supreme court this morning. It is the test case of the fee and salary law, which Judge Brown, of the Marion superior court, held to be unconstitutional. In the assignment of errors the attorney general says that the court below erred in overruling the demurrer to the alternative writ, to which action of the court the appellant excepted at the time.

In the case of William Burgett against the Pennsylvania company the supreme court has denied a rehearing, giving the following opinion: "The rule is as to appliances an employe works with the law requires him to know such defects as he ought to see by the exercise of diligence in his employment, and it does not require him to know or ascertain the defects in connection with which he is not obliged to labor. In this case, however, under the evidence and the instructions, the jury were authorized to infer that appellee had obtained knowledge of the alleged defects therein, and in view of such knowledge under the facts and circumstances disclosed by the evidence, in the absence of notice of such defects to the employer he had no right to indulge the presumption that the appliance had been repaired."

The Columbian Athletic club, of Roby, has brought suit at Crown Point against Charles H. Frederich, sheriff of Lake county, and John Brown, William C. Murphy and Henry Frederich, his bondsmen, claiming $10,000 damages. The plaintiff alleges that it is a duly organized corporation, existing under the laws of Indiana, its business to give boxing and wrestling matches at Roby, and that at great expense it has erected a pavilion and engaged some of the famous athletes of the day to appear and give exhibitions of skill in boxing and wrestling. It is also alleged that several thousand people, each paying $3, assembled to witness the exhibition. It is further charged that the sheriff and his deputies unlawfully forced their way within the inclosure and arrested the persons who were giving the exhibition, whereby the plaintiff was damaged as claimed. An injunction is also demanded to prevent interference with similar exhibitions which may be given in the future.

Frank Simmons, of Lima, Ohio, died at the Michigan City prison on June 20. Had he lived a few days longer he doubtless would have been released to go to his mother, who was seeking his pardon from the governor. No papers asking for executive clemency had been filed with the governor, and there is no record in the office of his crime and the penalty inflicted. A few days previous to the convict's death his mother wrote to the governor, inclosing a dispatch from Warden French, which said that the boy would live about three weeks. A statement from the prison physician said that Simmons would not live, but his death would not occur for a week or two. The mother made a pathetic appeal for the release of the prisoner that he might go to her to die. Before issuing the pardon the governor decided to inquire into the case and wrote to the warden. A letter from the prison stated that Simmons died of consumption on the day that it was predicted he would live three weeks, and the body had been sent to his mother.

THE FAILURES.

Louis Snyder's Sons Paper Company Assigns.

The Columbian Excursion Company Short of Funds Because of Empty World's Fair Hotels.

CINCINNATI, June 27. Late last evening the Louis Snyder's Sons Paper company filed a deed of assignment in the probate court to C. M. Harding and George Paradee. The assets are given as $1,000,000 and the liabilities as $700,000. Stringency of the money market is given as the cause of the failure. The company is one of the most extensive makers of paper in the country. They own four paper mills in Hamilton, Ohio, and the Cincinnati warehouse, No. 185 Fourth street. The assignment covers all this property and the stocks and machinery contained therein.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The Columbian Excursion company, which holds a leasehold of three world's fair hotels, made an assignment today in favor of Melville C. Eames. The hotels are the Everett, 220 rooms, the Costello, 232 rooms, and the Boston, 200 rooms. The company was incorporated two years ago with a capital stock of $10,000. The hotels are remodeled apartment houses fitted up for world's fair accommodations. The assets of the company will probably exceed the liabilities, the latter being placed at $30,000. The failure was caused by a lack of patronage. The attorneys of the assignees stated that the hotels will continue in business. They have a number of contracts with parties of visitors from the east, who have delayed their coming until later in the season. If the attendance at the fair increases as it has done lately the company will come out all right."

A RECORD BREAKER.

New York to Chicago on a Wheel in Ten Days.

CHICAGO, June 27.—At 12.40 o'clock today Harry H. Wylie, the cycling editor of the Sportsman's Review, rode up to the city hall and dismounted, having finished his great record ride from New York to this city.

Wylie's ride breaks the record between New York and Chicago. He made the trip in just ten days, four and one-half hours.

The best previous record was that of Tom Roe, who finished the 1,000 miles last Thursday in eleven days and five hours. His shortest day was forty-five miles, which he made over the mountains. His best day was 146 miles.

He broke the record between New York and Philadelphia, doing that distance in thirteen hours, and he also rode faster across the state of Ohio than had any other man before him.

CIVIL SERVICE BASIS.

Supt. Johnson Will Adopt It for the Feeble Minded School.

Alexander Johnson, superintendent of the School for Feeble Minded, said to the Indianapolis Journal that he has begun to reorganize the school upon a civil service basis. The teachers and other employes will not be removed except for cause. It is now definitely known that Misses Etta Hilliard, Alice Scott, Eleanor Wright and Martha Swan will again teach in the institution next year. Several others have been notified that they may remain, but have given no answer as yet. Mr. Talmage, the storekeeper, has resigned, and his successor has been chosen. The school's vacation will begin August 1. Mr. Johnson will assume charge July 1, and he is busy this week removing his household goods to that city.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

The Demand for a Meeting of Congress is Renewed.

WASHINGTON, June 27. One effect of the action of the government in India has been to renew the demand for an early session of congress and this view of the situation was presented to Secretary Carlisle this morning by many of his congressional callers and by numerous telegrams from all sections of the country. Before going to the cabinet meeting Secretary Carlisle received a cablegram from London announcing a further decline in the price of silver to thirty-five pence. At this price the silver dollar is worth fifty-eight and three-fourths cents.

The Falcon Preparing to Sail.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 27.—The steamer Falcon, which will bear Lieutenant Peary and his party of explorers to the Arctic, regions will leave here tonight for New York. She will remain at the latter port until Friday and will then start for Greenland, with a stop at Boston.

Elected President.

BOSTON, June 27.—Gen. Nelson A. Miles was elected president of the Society of the Army of the Potomac today.

S. J. Black, a bicyclist who has been over half the world, is in the city and will give an exhibition of fancy trick riding on his Cleveland wheel in front of Louis Mohrs, on West Wayne street, this evening at 7 o'clock.

Last night a telegram was received from Milwaukee asking that the body of Michael Beyer be prepared for burial awaiting further instructions. Nothing further has been learned.

CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.

Opinions of Leading Papers Concerning Their Release.

Gov. Altgeld is Severely Criticised for His Action—Was He Paying Political Debts?

CHICAGO, June 27.—The Tribune has the following this morning: "The anarchists unveiled their monument to Spies and Parsons a few days too soon. Had they waited Fielden, Schwab and Neebe could have been with them to unite in honoring the memory of their dead comrades. The monument was unveiled Sunday and yesterday Governor Altgeld released the three men who have been in Joliet since November of 1887. It was generally understood that they were to be let go in the event of Altgeld's election. The anarchists believed that he was not merely an alien by birth, but an alien by temperament and sympathies, and they were right. He has apparently not a drop of true American blood in his veins. He does not reason like an American, nor feel like one, and consequently he does not behave like one. He did not approve of the result of the trial held before Judge Gary and for that reason the anarchists and half-baked Americans supported him at the polls whenever they had an opportunity. They voted for him for judge, and for governor, and they have their reward. There are many who will feel that it was wrong to commute the sentences of Fielden and Schwab if the consequence was to be such an act of mistaken clemency as that of Governor Altgeld. We cannot feel that the brave fellows who lost their lives in the Haymarket massacre have been remembered as long or as gratefully as they should be when two at least of their murderers are turned loose upon the community after a scant term of imprisonment.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Tribune and the Herald are the only morning papers that comment editorially on the pardoning of the Chicago anarchists. The Tribune says:

"Governor Altgeld, of Illinois, has assumed a responsibility of the gravest character in pardoning the three Chicago anarchists who have been undergoing imprisonment at Joliet. His reason for so doing will not bear examination, although he has set them forth at great length. That the anarchists had a fair trial and were justly condemned is the universal opinion of Americans whose opinions are worth regarding. Moreover, the case was carried to the supreme court of the nation and the findings of the state tribunal were upheld. It is late in the day for Governor Altgeld to come forward with the assertion that they were not fairly treated and that Judge Gary manifested prejudice against them."

The Herald says: "The announcement that all the Chicago anarchists in the Illinois state prison have been unconditionally pardoned by Governor Altgeld is well calculated to startle the public. Not less extraordinary are the reasons given for this action. These constitute a sweeping arraignment of court, jury, prosecutors and police for what Governor Altgeld considers an unwarranted conviction of the anarchists. The conviction he treats as a scandalous outrage on justice. It is strange that Governor Altgeld, who has been in office six months, has just made this amazing discovery. It is more remarkable that it was not made by any of his predecessors during seven years, nor by either the supreme court of Illinois of the supreme court of the United States, both of which affirmed the conviction. Anarchy in this country never received a more deadly blow than when justice was meted to the diabolical bomb throwers who terrified Chicago some years ago. It is no time to silence the warning then given to anarchists, now that the cable almost daily brings news of anarchistic outrages in various parts of Europe, and we even read of a monument to anarchy just erected in Chicago."

McClure Acquitted.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—This morning the jury in the case of Robert McClure, the ex-agent of the Law and Order society, charged with embezzlement in failing to turn over to the proper authorities money collected under the special Sunday law of 1794, returned a verdict of acquittal, but ordered that McClure pay all the costs of the trial. It is understood that the verdict was rendered on technical grounds, that McClure will be re-arrested at once and re-tried.

Bank Failure.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 27.—A special from Port Angeles says: The First National bank of this city closed its doors yesterday morning after having been open thirty minutes. The bank will undoubtedly resume business in a short time. The management have the entire confidence of the people of this city.

A CROSSING HORROR.

A Milk Train Dashes Into a Buggy.

Two Children Instantly Killed and the Mother and Another Person Badly Injured.

CHICAGO, June 27.—While Mrs. Inholsen, her two children and another child were attempting to cross the [illegible] avenue crossing in a buggy at [illegible] o'clock this morning, an incoming milk train on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road struck the buggy and completely demolished it, killing two children, badly injuring their mother, and fatally wounding the remaining child.

The killed are: Fred W. Inholsen, six years old; Gracie Inholsen, five months old.

The injured are: Mrs. Flora Inholsen, mother of the above, bruised about the head and spinal injuries; Maggie Slavin, thirteen years old, skull fractured, cannot recover.

The dead children and the two injured persons were taken to the home of the Inholsens. The gateman at the Millard avenue crossing, James Webster, was arrested and locked up at the Lawn Gate police station.

COWBOY RACE.

John Berry, Riding "Poison," is the Winner.

The Winner Rides Into the World's Fair Gates at 9:30—Emmett Allbright Wins Second.

CHICAGO, June 27.—John Berry, riding his celebrated chestnut horse, "Poison," is the winner of the cowboy race from Chadron, Neb., to this city. He reached his destination, Buffalo Bill's Wild West show, at the world's fair grounds, ahead of all competitors at 9 30 this morning. He covered the last 150 miles of the distance in twenty-four hours.

Emmet Allbright was second in, arriving at 11:15.

The president of the Illinois Humane society, John G. Shortall, and his eight assistants were at the Wild West show at the time of the arrival. [illegible] Shortall says the horses could not be in better condition "and as far as they know at present they are perfectly sound. Colonel Cody said: "The horses are in fine condition and could not feel better. They are out in the paddock now rolling around and kicking up their heels." It took ten policemen to keep the crowd back from the gates.

THIEVES AT WORK.

Many Articles of More or Less Value Stolen.

The World's Fair Guards Powerless in Stopping the Depredations of Dishonest Ones.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, June 27.—There is plenty of work for Captain Bonfield's secret service detectives in the administration building. Since the rooms in pavilion C were petitioned off for newspaper and other offices, there have been innumerable thefts in the darkness of the night, some petty, but many of valuable articles. The building is supposed to be guarded every night by the guards, but they have failed to find the leak and the little side door through which the stolen articles have been taken with a persistency worthy of a better cause. As a force of colored janitors is supposed to be at work sweeping the corridors and offices during the night and must have duplicate keys to all rooms, the burden of suspicion has been placed upon them. Complaint has been made to the council of administration and the director general and a change of system has been promised.

With the exception of the Brazilian, Argentine Republic and Russian sections in the artistic agricultural hall every exhibit is in place. The last exhibit to be received in the building came a couple of days ago from the Spanish colony of Puerto Rico consisting chiefly of coffee, spices, rice and tobacco. It was installed in the Spanish section and there will be a formal opening of the exhibit made by Spain, Cuba and Puerto Rico in a few days, which will make the building complete.

Chief Buchanan invited a few hundred officials, commissioners and other friends to accompany him today in a tour of inspection through the myriad exhibits of endless variety and design in the agricultural hall as well as the forestry building over which he has control. A large number accepted the invitation and at the conclusion a repast was served by the chief.

ROBY FIGHTS.

Two Sporting Events Which Occurred at Roby, Ind.

ROBY, Ind., June 27.—The second of the series of pugilistic entertainments offered to the public by the Columbian Athletic club was not interfered with in any manner by the officers representing the majesty of the law of the state of Indiana. The attendance was not of the volume expected. Peter Maher, of Ireland, redeemed his lost prestige in a small degree by easily defeating Val Flood, of Australia, in four rounds.

Hugh Napier, of Australia, knocked out Bobby Burns, of Providence, in the ninth round, for a purse of $2,000.

THE Indiana state dental association is holding a three days' session at Indianapolis this week.

PICNICS will be numerous on the Fourth of July. Aside from them there will be but little celebration of the day in this city, except such noise as the American boy only knows how to make.

GOVERNOR MATTHEWS found himself unable to suppress the Roby fights. These law breakers can defy the law, and they do it successfully. Indiana is getting a great reputation as a prize-fighting state.

THE new postal money orders which have been ordered by the government will soon be issued. In the system there is little or no complication. Sheets will be issued calling for amounts from 1 cent to $5, which can be torn off to suit the purchasers. The postmaster will have no writing to do on it, the sender simply endorses it the same as a check or draft. One cent will pay the charges in any amount up to $5, instead of 3 cents as at present.

LIBERAL provision is making for the seventh annual encampment of the Indiana division, Sons of Veterans, which will be held at Terre Haute. The program calls for three days' exercises. The division council will meet July 4, and the encampment proper will open on the following day. The installation of officers will occur on the 6th inst. The auxiliary society of ladies will hold an encampment at the same time. Among the advertised speakers for the occasion are Governor Matthews, ex-Governor Chase, and Department Commander Johnston.

The American Girl.

One of the interesting exhibits at the world's fair not set down in any catalogue and heretofore unmentioned, so far as we know, by the enterprising correspondents who are "writing up" the Columbian exposition, is the independent American girl.

She is seen everywhere about the grounds and sees everything that is to be seen. She is found in every department and is always well behaved, self-reliant and contented with her lot. She has no need of man's protection, for she knows how to take care of herself, and she does it in such a way as to win man's respect without the danger of insult.

She is there for a good time and a profitable one as well. With these objects in view she goes everywhere note-book in hand, jotting down items of interest that will help out her memory when she returns to her schoolroom, her desk in the counting room, her home, or her position in the business house that has given her a vacation to be spent in her own peculiar fashion.

Every section of the country has a feminine representative at the fair. You can always tell the American girl because she possesses an air peculiar to herself and the women of other nations cannot hope to imitate her. Her creed seldom accompany them and their womanly independence is their sole and greatest protection. She must astonish the foreigners who see her, as she moves about paying her own bills and taking care of herself, but to us it is the most natural sight in the world. Ask the foreign sight-seers what is the most novel exhibit in the whole fair and it would be safe to bet that he would answer "the American girl."

Don't Get Their Money's Worth.

Those who have been clamoring so long and so loud and so persistently for the opening of the gates of the world's fair on Sunday must be grievously disappointed at the small number of people who visited the grounds last Sunday. The total paid admissions were but 62,028 and the winding paths and broad thoroughfares of the white city had a quiet, deserted appearance. The workingmen and their families did not turn out as had been predicted they would, notwithstanding it was a bright Sunday and the weather was all that could be desired. The fact that the United States government building and all United States exhibits, which form a most interesting part of the fair, are always closed on Sunday, as well as those of Great Britain and a part of the French exhibit, seems to have given the wage workers the idea that they were not getting their money's worth. Then, too, the machinery is all stopped and many individual exhibitors hang up their curtains on Sunday, so that a great deal of the exhibition is closed, notwithstanding the gates are open.

MEN are getting more effeminate than they used to be in many ways. The man who wore a flower in the buttonhole of his coat a few years ago was looked upon as either a dude or a botanist, but today dozens of men are to be found in every hotel corridor with more or less prominent boutonnieres, and from the way florists' windows are arranged it is quite evident a large share of their receipts comes from what they call "buttonholes." From an æsthetic point of view the practice is a pleasant one and is generally liked, but it is also somewhat of an indication of what ten years ago would have been regarded as dudishness.

THERE were, according to authentic reports, 10,145 marriages in Kansas last year. A notable fact is that 5,757 of these weddings, more than half of all, were of colored people, though the negroes of the state number only some 55,000 in a total population of about 1,500,000. In three marriages during the year the groom was over 80 years old and in five cases the bride was over 75.

A PITTSBURGH paper tells us that in one of the leading dry goods stores it was recently proposed to reduce the wages of the women, in order that those of the married men might be raised. It was shown upon investigation that more single women were supporting people than the married men. The change did not take place.

KAIULANI, the "exiled" Hawaiian princess, is said to be living at present in the village of Burton Latimer, in Northamptonshire, England, where she occupies a pretty cottage in company with an elderly woman, who acts as a companion. The cottage is three miles from the school where the princess was educated.

DOWN in southwestern Texas, just about midway between Houston in the east and El Paso in the west and very near to the Rio Grande, the Southern Pacific railway has built over the Pecos river the highest bridge in the United States. Its height of three hundred and twenty feet is only exceeded by two bridges in the world—one in the Andes of Peru and the other in the Himalaya mountains.

THE Columbian stamps are really steel engravings, and form the third special issue of stamps in the country. The first of these was a fifteen-cent stamp representing the landing of Columbus, which was issued in 1869, and the second commemorated the 100th centennial by a souvenir envelope, with a shield-shaped three cent stamp in the corner, having at the top the figures 1776 and at the bottom 1876.

PHILADELPHIA school-teachers are not allowed to impose corporal punishment on wicked pupils. Recently a father of a boy who was a terror to his teacher, a pretty but helpless girl, appreciated his son's impudence, followed him to school, caught him in the act of disobedience and thrashed him before the class.

IN modeling the horse for his equestrian statue of Gen. Grant, for the Union League club, of Brooklyn, the sculptor, William Ordway Partridge, has had casts made from a living charger kept at his country home in Milton, Mass., where he is at work. It is believed to be the first time that casts of a horse have ever been taken for such a purpose.

ESTIMATES of crop yields have been issued from a number of sources recognized as authentic. The lateness of the season and other conditions have justified conservative figures which in some localities are below those of the last two years. These radical estimates are most noticeable in the wheat crop.

BOSTON has a drink that is not sold elsewhere, at least under the same name. They call it there "mustv ale," and in one house it is a specialty. It seems, says a New York authority, a ripe smooth ale, with a fair amount of alcoholic strength, and nothing to suggest mustiness.

A SEATTLE (Wash.) fish dealer while dissecting a monstrous shark claims to have found inside the fish a cuff button which bore a portrait of President Cleveland.

Uniformed Help.

It is a curious fact that while almost all men delight in parades, societies, organizations and fraternities, especially those that are distinguished by some uniform or badge of distinction, this feeling seems to be brought up with a round turn whenever it indicates a position of service of any sort. It might be questioned why one man enjoys wearing the uniform of a soldier and another man rebels sometimes to the extent of giving up his position against the idea of putting on the uniform of a railroad employe or that of many similar occupations. It is but a few years, according to the New York Ledger, since there was a rebellion of the most bitter sort on one of the trunk lines of railroad because the company insisted that the employes should be uniformed; and as recently as within the last three or four years certain station agents have put on the company's regular cap only after repeated threats of dismissal unless the rules were complied with. It has been said that the distaste for uniform has kept some very excellent young men out of railroad employ. The uniform is in some way looked upon as a badge of servitude. It is argued that the uniformed employe feels himself more on a par with his fellows and maintains his self-respect much better when in ordinary dress.

THERE is said to be a collector of artistic odds and ends in New York who has many treasures that make him the envy of his acquaintances. There are Venetian glasses, bronzes, ivories, porcelains, rugs, quaint musical instruments, engravings, stone carvings, jewelry, and goodness knows what all besides. One of his friends, knowing that his income was not excessive, asked him where he found such things. "In the pawnshops," he answered. "There are no other bargains in town such as you can get there. To be sure, there's an awful lot of trash, but you're certain to find some things worth having in almost every one of them. We won't say how they got there, we only know that they are there. Prices? Well, fairly high on the tickets, but, my dear boy, don't dream of paying a pawnbroker what he asks for anything."

FEW people have any conception of the progress which photography has made in the direction of taking instantaneous impressions. An object traveling at the rate of 10,000 miles an hour can be photographed by means of the electric spark, while, if a revolving mirror is introduced, objects traveling at the enormous speed of 180,000 miles an hour can be taken. To photograph the latter class of objects, the mirror, which is worked by electricity, must revolve 1,024 times every second, which gives a speed a hundred and fifty times greater than that of a bullet. Thus, the amateur who takes a snap shot with his instantaneous camera is, unknown to himself, working a miracle.

THE value of the eucalyptus tree or plant in pulmonary troubles has been demonstrated. It is said that in localities where these plants grow thickly immunity from fevers is enjoyed, a suggestive fact that ought to bear fruit in localities where fevers flourish. And somebody further suggests to place in hospital corridors, particularly hospitals where consumptives and fever patients are treated, tubs and pots of this plant to test its virtues.

THE lower house of the Michigan legislature lately voted to restore capital punishment in that state, the penalty to be inflicted only upon conviction through direct testimony, circumstantial evidence being held as not justifying the death sentence. Since the abrogation of the death penalty in Michigan, crime, it is asserted, has increased. The size of the majority voting for its reinstatement indicates a radical change in popular sentiment in favor of the new law.

THE total debt of Great Britain, handled by the Bank of England, amounts to $3,420,231,725. Yet this enormous sum, we are informed, is only $90,000,000 more than the gross annual value of the property and profits assessed to income tax, is less than half the estimated national income, and $920,000,000 less than the total value of British imports and exports for 1890.

THERE are innumerable uses for dogs. The method adopted by an electric-lighting company of London in laying their connections consists of copper strips conducted along their entire system in culverts underground. A terrier has been trained to do this work, and carries the electric wires through the culverts with the skill of an experienced workman.

SIX POINTS, out of many, where Doctor Pierce's Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take—little, sugar-coated granules that every child takes readily.
2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.
3. Their effects last. There's no reaction afterwards. They regulate or cleanse the system, according to size of dose.
4. They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.
5. Put up in glass—are always fresh.
6. They cure Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

HATS FOR THE LADIES

DISTINGUISHING MARKS OF THE SUMMER CROP

The Leghorn Is in Vogue and Will Wrestle for Supremacy with the Smart Sailor Article—The Typical Hat Notes of the Modes.

Leghorn in Vogue.

While leghorn hats have been fashionable for a number of years they have never had as great vogue given them as is noted this summer. Our grandmothers thought a great deal of a fine leghorn and one was shaped and bleached and made over and retrimmed all of a lifetime, while for a bride nothing was quite so fine as a leghorn bonnet trimmed with white roses. Fineness in the quality of the leghorn is today again counted of importance, for the brim must be bent to suit the face, and the hat itself must be made thoroughly a picture one.

In the illustration is a leghorn hat that will be worn during the summer in the country, or for driving. The hat has the usual wide brim and low square crown, and at the back it is bent up in curves to permit the hair to come below it, each indentation being kept by a pink rose. In front under the brim, and quite close to the head, is a stiff band of green velvet, and on this is arranged a band of pink roses, that are only visible when the face is raised, as the brim is allowed to really form a shade. The outside decoration consists of high bows of pink gauze ribbon; a roll of the ribbon is about the crown, and ties of it are at the side, and may or may not be worn looped under the chin, as is most becoming. Usually, however, they are looped as in the picture, because then a deliciously quaint air is given, and one can almost imagine one's self one's own grandmamma in those days when grandpapa came a-wooing.

Wreaths of flowers outside the leghorn hats are liked, especially when the crown is removed, and this, by-the-by, is often done. Very often the place where the crown ought to be is covered by twisted grass or foliage, and then the flowers come about it.

May Wear Black at a Wedding.

The wearing of black at a wedding was formerly considered so ominous of evil that people in mourning either staid away from the ceremony or put off the somber habiliments for the occasion. The appearance of an innocent black pin has been known to create dismay among the wedding guests. The prejudice has wholly disappeared among intelligent people. Black toilets are worn at the ceremony and nobody ever thinks of any ill luck to the bride on that account. Brides themselves do not wear black, but recently a very well-known society girl, who was in mourning for a near relative, wore a wedding and traveling costume of black and white-striped silk and satin. She wore a cape of black satin and lace and a black hat decorated with black feathers and white lace. Six horse shoes covered with white roses, a quart of rice and numberless superannuated slippers tied with pink ribbon were thrown after the carriage as she left her home, so, as one superstition is as good as another, the bride is likely, notwithstanding her toilet, to have as happy a life as is allotted to mortals in general.

A New Fancy.

The latest French hats, the brims of which require a facing, show not the softening velvet, but instead the glistening satin. This is a most decided novelty, as satin, except in the form of ribbon bows, has not been seen on hats or bonnets for a long time. A typical summer-time hat which shows such a facing is illustrated. The hat has a low round crown of pale green and a broad brim of deep lavender chip. The brim is under-faced with green satin, and then is turned up to form what seems like a three-cornered shape, each corner being caught with a stiff bunch of purple violets. Just in front, where the square look is given, there is a bow of green satin ribbon, and in the centre of it a bunch of violets with their green leaves; of course, such a hat would be trying, but it is essentially picturesque, and worn with the Empire coat, with its wide revers, a most picturesque effect would be obtained. In facing a hat with satin great care must be exercised in cutting the satin as it, and to come to [illegible] as it [illegible] the entire correct way to say the hat is straight on the bias. A black Neapolitan hat faced with white satin has black satin bows and white roses for its trimming, and is, as can be imagined, what the good housewife would call "decidedly stylish," and after all that is the great desideratum in a woman's hat.

Wedding Presents.

Wedding presents are becoming such a serious fact in these modern times. There are so many duplicates and so many of the gifts are so utterly useless to the recipients that the suggestion of a heartless cynic that a subscription list should be sent around to the friends of the two families, and that each donor should put down what he was disposed to give, strikes one as being by no means a bad notion.

Then the young people could consult together, buy something that they really liked and wanted and write and thank the donors for the especial article. Other complications in connection with this matter have arisen which there seems to be no difficulty in settling. Supposing the engagement is broken off at the last moment and the wedding never takes place. You will naturally say all the presents would be promptly returned. Doubtless that would be the proper course, but I have heard of instances where they never were returned, and nobody knows what became of them.

It reminds one of the story of Miss Cynthia P. Pottlepate, a popular American belle, who was frequently being engaged to be married, ever breaking off the engagement at the last moment, and always receiving a vast number of presents, which, by the way, she never returned. When she eventually was comfortably settled she was fond of telling the story herself, and generally concluded with saying, "And so you see when at last I met some one I right well liked I was able to begin housekeeping in real good style."—Graphic.

The Double-Skirted Dress.

Double-skirted dresses of silk grenadine, silk veiling or etamine are bordered with rows of ribbon, jet gimp or white or ecru guipure, laid on flat. The round waists have daring bretelles similarly finished. The close coat sleeve is finished with rows of the trimming to the elbow, where it is met by a full balloon puff of the dress fabric. Many of the beautiful Marie Antoinette transparents in black, figured with small but brilliant flowers, are made up over changeable taffeta silk and trimmed with shirred or plaited ruches in silks that repeat the colors of the blossoms and leaves.

The Sailor Hat of Today.

The sailor hat as we know him was decidedly comfortable, extremely useful and very becoming. In some cases when he wasn't he was worn because of his other good qualities. He appeared in straw and in tarpaulin, and in the last he was supposed to be dedicated solely and exclusively to wear on a yacht, where the salt sea could fly up on him and never hurt him. In this useful form he fell in the hands of a French milliner, and the result, which is the smart sailor hat of this summer is pictured. It is the tarpaulin, or shiny black leather hat made frivolous. The crown is somewhat higher than that of last year and the brim a little narrower; about the crown is a band of petunia velvet, and quite near the front and a little to one side stands up in the most assertive manner a bunch of petunias, while at the back from under the stiff brim two petunia buds peep out.

Fancy Jewelry All the Rage.

The rage for fancy jewelry is on the increase. Flower and animal forms are still highly favored. All sorts of wild flowers are chosen for lace pins, hair ornaments and small buckles: sprays of valley lillies, single blossoms of hawthorn, pimpernel, chickweed, speedwell, geranium and heather, in gold or silver set with gems. A row of daisies, alternately frosted gold with a pearl heart, or with diamond chips clustered on silver, make pretty brooches and bangles. Flowers are also combined with insects, for instance, a tiny hair brush in diamonds perched upon a twig of holly in enamel; a spider, with an opal-gray pearl of Labrador alone for his body, is clinging with his diamond-set legs to a golden leaf. The newest thing in single flowers is the bee-orchid and the narcissus. The former may have its purse-like cup covered with little sapphires, and the petals in diamonds, or vice versa. The narcissus is in plain burnished gold with a brilliant in its center, or in diamonds and topazes.

About Summer Toilets.

Among summer toilets for young girls there seems to be a decided partiality for yoke bodices with daring epaulets or bretelles, and pretty effects are produced with ecru guipure laces and nets, or by velvet runners through bands of colored insertion, embroidered stripes alternating with those bordered with hemstitching, and also with Russian guipes with full sleeves attached, made of surah in cream white, figured with silk dots in color. Upon yokes of pink organdie, pale blue chambray, ecru batiste and plain French zephyr goods is wrought fine needlework that imitates multi-colored Persian embroideries so popular on richer gowns, the only difference being that the work is executed with fast dye cottons and not with silk floss.

Catch the Factor

and when caught scrub well with SOZODONT. Don't spare it. Brush for dear life. If you destroy it, all the better for you and your teeth. It will destroy the health of the mouth, its beauty, and your sweet breath.

All union butcher shops will be closed Fourth of July.

Don't Mince Matters,

but take all the help you can get. And you can get more of it, with Pearline, than with anything else that's safe to use. Everybody knows about Pearline for washing clothes. We talk more about that, because of all the wear and tear and labor it saves, by doing away with that ruinous rub, rub, rub. But don't let it's help stop there. With anything that will wash at all Pearline will save you something in the washing. Dishes, paint, woodwork, marble, windows, carpets (without taking up), milk cans, silver, jewelry, etc.—these are only some of the things that are washed best with Pearline.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 356 JAMES PYLE, New York.

ROWELL'S American Newspaper Directory, the standard journalistic work of reference of the United States, contains some interesting statistics showing the marvelous growth of the press on this continent. For the first time the number of newspapers and periodicals in the United States exceeds 20,000. There are 20,006 in this country, 919 in Canada, and 9 in Newfoundland. Of those in the United States 1,855 are published daily, 31 tri-weekly, 237 semi-weekly, 15,017 weekly, 85 bi-weekly, 349 semi-monthly, 3,125 monthly, 78 bi-monthly and 229 quarterly.

Safe, Quick and Effective.

The valuable curative properties of Allcock's Porous Plasters are due to the employment of the highest medical and chemical skill. They are purely vegetable, and in ingredients and method have never been equalled; safe, quick and effective in their action; they do not burn or blister, but soothe and relieve while curing, and can be worn without causing pain or inconvenience.

Do not be deceived by misrepresentation. All other so-called Porous Plasters are imitations, made to sell on the reputation of Allcock's.

Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept substitute.

A CURIOUS story of perverse illustration of perpetual motion comes from Columbus, Ohio. The wife of the inventor of a perpetual motion machine—as alleged—stepped on a rusty nail and is likely to suffer tetanus. One son an hour later fell through the plastering when playing in the attic, broke the dishes in the dining-room and inflicted severe injuries on himself. Shortly after, another child broke a leg in an excavation. It would appear as if the imp imprisoned in the machine had managed to break loose and wreak some vengeance on his imaginary jailer.

DENVER Chinamen in doctoring an ailing relative punctured his abdomen, and the sick man perversely died after all. The incident illustrates the stubborn and contrary nature of the Chinese that the Geary law had already made quite plain.

NATURAL GAS FIRE.

A revolution in Gas Grate Fires. More heat can be had with a No. 3 Mixer than any other style of burner with a No. 5 Mixer.

You can turn out your furnaces and have all the heat you want from your grates, and have better ventilation in your rooms.

H. J. Ash has taken the agency for a grate burner that will accomplish the above results, and besides he will remodel your grate with polished brass sides and fender, and make a beautiful grate fire for a few dollars.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTYN, D.D., New York City. Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., "The Winthrop," 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

A Popular Nickel Plate Fireman Gets Married.

Accidents, Incidents and Personal Mention of the People About the Railway Centers.

Joseph Harber and Miss Mary Collins were married this morning at 9 o'clock at the Cathedral, Father John Quinlan performing the ceremony. Miss Margaret Collins, sister of the bride, and Peter Harber, brother of the groom, were bridesmaid and groomsman. After the wedding the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 111 Hanna street, where a reception was given them and a large number of friends. At 7:15 this evening Mr and Mrs. Harber will leave on a Nickel Plate train for New York state, where they will visit Buffalo, Rochester and New York city, returning here in three or four weeks. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Collins, the former the popular machinist in the Pittsburg shops. The groom is the well known Nickel Plate fireman, running between this city and Stony Island. The news of his marriage will be a complete surprise to his fellow trainmen, who looked upon Joseph as a confirmed bachelor. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Harber will go to housekeeping on West Main street.

BRIEF MENTION.

Bert Mills, of the electric light works, is sick and off duty.

August Kaiser, of the electric light works, had a hand lacerated in a lathe yesterday.

Frank Cherry has returned to his duties in the Pittsburg boiler shop after a few days absence.

The Electric Light and the Y. M. C. A. base ball clubs will play at Lakeside park Saturday afternoon.

The Emanuel's Jung Maennerbund excursion party to Rome City this morning number 100 people.

Mrs. Chester Durnell, wife of the Pittsburg engineer, went to Chicago yesterday to attend the world's fair.

John Wackmiller and Frank Fisher, of the electric light works, laid off today to attend the funeral of Gus Mosshelmer.

Joseph Grothaus resumed work in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop this morning after a week spent at the world's fair.

Peter H. Johnson, of the blacksmith department of the electric light works, and his wife left this morning for Kansas City, Mo.

Andy Tagtmeyer dropped a piece of iron upon his toes Saturday and is now off for repairs. He works in the Pittsburg machine shop.

John Collins, of the Pittsburg copper shop, is off duty today attending the wedding of his sister, Miss Mary Collins, to Joseph Harber.

Within the last ten days five class "R" locomotives, Altoona build, have been delivered to the Chicago division of the Panhandle lines.

Messengers of the American Express company will take the places of those of the Adams Express company, on July 1, on the Cairo Short Line.

The improvements which the Pennsylvania Railroad company is making this season to its line between Pittsburg and Altoona will cost $1,500,000.

H. Kelker, P. Ryal, J. Viroil, H. A. Durnell and C Durnell, Pittsburg engineers, and J. F. Harman and F. Wingert, firemen, have returned to work after a short absence.

On last Saturday the Lake Shore's "exposition flyer left" left Buffalo fifty-nine minutes late and arrived in Chicago on time; in fact, at Elkhart they were only five minutes late.

Hank Loso, foreman of the Pittsburg wreck crew, is again on the sick list. His friends hope his illness may soon end. Mr. Loso recently returned to work after an illness of nearly a year.

The Grand Rapids road, yesterday commenced running chair cars on trains 7 and 8 between Fort Wayne and Petoskey. This service will be appreciated by the patrons of the road.

Conrad Rodenbeck, the Pittsburg boilermaker, has been ailing for some weeks and this morning, in company with his son William, he went to Warsaw, where he will take a much needed rest.

To fill out a car load the Electric Light company joined the Bass company in a shipment of machinery to the City of Mexico this morning. On the car was a large boiler and a 750-light dynamo, incandescent system.

R. M. Jones, E. Janney, E. O. Bradley and M. Kirby, Pittsburg engineers, are off duty, the two former on account of sickness and the two latter on account of private business. Fireman F. Lewis is also off duty on account of sickness.

The association of Railway Claim Agents will hold its annual meeting in Chicago on July 11, at which time J. T. Brooks, vice president of the Pennsylvania lines, will deliver an address. The western end of the Pittsburg road will be represented by F. L. [illegible]son.

The Columbian express over the Pennsylvania lines between New York and Chicago is now running daily in three or four sections, and the limited is crowded daily. Some of the competing roads have asked the Pennsylvania to make the fare on the Columbian express the same as on the famous limited, believing that were such action taken more of the business going over the Pennsylvania lines would drift to its competing lines and better even up matters.

A local branch of the Western Passenger association has been organized at Kansas City. Each member of the association is required to deposit $200 as a guarantee of good faith. The penalty for rate-cutting or issuing unwarranted transportation is $100 for each offense and $25 for each ticket involved.

The following Nickel Plate trainmen are on the off duty list: Conductor Makepeace, Brakemen Roland, W. E. Turner, Reynolds, Norris, Hawkins and Bayhouser. And Conductors Urbans and Watterson, Brakemen Mart Bulger, C. W. Rose, C. F. Taylor and Mathias have reported for duty after a short absence.

The annual statement of the Lake Shore is out in pamphlet form. It shows that last year the company was obliged to haul one ton of freight six and one-fourth miles to make one cent profit, yet the road last year earned enough to pay a 7 per cent. dividend and put 5 per cent. of its gross earnings into improvements.

Fred Pieper the well known Wabash machinist, has about completed his handsome new residence on Breckenridge street and will move into it some time next month from his present home at the corner of West Jefferson and Webster streets. Mr Pieper's new house is built in the modern style, is furnished with water and gas, and is conveniently arranged throughout.

A railway safety coach, the invention of J. P. Tallman, of Peru, Ind., is attracting the attention of railway men to a considerable extent. The car is novel in its construction, and the principal object aimed at is to afford a ready means of escape for its occupants. In case of accident there is no crowding to the end doors of the coaches, the means of exit at the sides being ample and convenient.

Wilbur Jackson, of Bass' Foundry and Machine works, was married Sunday at Huntington and the Daily Democrat of that place speaks as follows about the event: "At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mr. Wilbur Jackson and Miss Mina Emley were married by Rev. J. W. Cummings at the U. B. parsonage. Only a few friends were present. Mr. Jackson was formerly employed in the C. & E. shops in this city but is now an employe of the Bass foundry in Fort Wayne. He has many friends here. The bride, daughter of Joel Emley, is widely known and very popular among her friends. They will reside in Fort Wayne."

Yesterday's Indianapolis Journal contained the following: "Those well informed say that railroad officials, as a rule, are encouraging the organization of the American Railway association, hoping that it will lessen the demands on their time in listening to grievance committees. 'It will be noticed that in their annual reports,' said an official of one of the organizations, 'the fact that officials are obliged to give too much time to grievance committees is alluded to, whereas, were all in one association these matters could be taken up and acted on at certain times and a much more practical method of doing business would result.' A gentleman who recently talked with Eugene Debs the organizer of the association, says that he states that railway employes are beginning to look at the efforts to simplify their relations with the roads with a good deal of interest, and Mr. Debs is really surprised that both the employes and railway officials are taking so much interest in the placing of the new association, which includes employes in all departments, well upon its feet."

WITH A LEADLESS PENCIL.

How "America's" Author Composed and Lost a Better Anthem.

The author of the national anthem "America," Dr. Samuel Francis Smith, says that many years ago, long after he had written his famous anthem some lines for a song ran through his mind for several days. He tried to fix them, but could not. They persistently returned to him, however, convincing him that they demanded outlet from his brain.

"Finally," says the author, "I woke up at 3 o'clock one morning to find the words clearly outlined in my mind. The poem was patriotic in its character, and as I saw it before me I realized that it was an anthem infinitely superior to 'America,' and, if written out, would supplant it.

"I arose, but being too sleepy to find a match, I picked up a newspaper, and taking a pencil from my pocket, wrote down the words. There were three verses, and when I had finished transcribing them, I was exhausted, and fell asleep in my chair. The next morning when I awoke I could not remember a line, and then it was that I was grateful I had transferred the verses to paper. But to my amazement, when I looked at the journal not a word was written on the margin. There were some weak traces of writing, but not a word! Then I looked at the pencil lying beside the paper. The mystery was explained. In uncovering the pencil I had dropped the lead on the floor, where I found it. I have never been able to recall a word of the poem."

To Cleanse the System

Effectually yet gently when costive or bilious or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

AN old saying in new garb is suggested by circumstances. Some people are born poor, some achieve poverty and some have poverty thrust upon them by the misfortune of being the heirs to large estates that endeavor vainly to pass through the hands of lawyers.

STOPPED THE GAME.

General Grant Interferes With a Game of Poker.

"General Grant once interfered in a most unwarranted and arbitrary manner with a poker game that was paying me a big profit," said Andrew Danner, one of the old vets who were fighting the war over again at the hotel. "It was shortly after the battle of Shiloh, and we confeds were feeling pretty badly down in the mouth. I was on the advance picket line one bright moonlight night, and the Yanks had a post only a few hundred yards away. We shot at each other until we got tired of the sport, then we swapped newspapers, coffee and tobacco.

"A daredevil young Yankee corporal walked right into our post, sat down on a log as unconcerned as you please, and asked us if we knew how to play draw poker. Did we? We rather thought we did. Had we any greenbacks? A few. Then he pulled out a deck of cards, and we sat down to play. Pretty soon another Yank came over, then another, until there were six of 'em, and we all joined in and played wide open games, forgetting that the cruel war was not over. Luck came my way, and I soon had everybody but the Yankee corporal broke. The rest were squatting around, blue and gray, watching the game, when there came that ugly 'click-ick-ick' so familiar to the soldier's ear. We looked up, and there stood a Yankee sergeant with four men, their muskets cocked. 'Members of the Forty-ninth, consider yourselves under arrest,' said the sergeant.

"'Oh, come now, sergeant,' the corporal began, when a horseman reined up behind the guard, and he concluded: 'General Grant, by hoky!' The blue-coats got up looking like a lot of whipped school-boys, and saluted their commander, who eyed them as sternly as a sphinx. They filed in front of the guard and started for camp. When their backs were turned on him, Grant removed the cigar from his mouth, and, with a cynical smile, asked the confederate nearest him: 'Who's ahead?' 'Oh, we're ahead,' replied the defender of the stars and bars. 'Those chumps you've brought down here can't play poker a little bit. But they can fight, general.' I remarked. 'Have to sometimes,' said Grant, dryly, and rode away."

GAY GONDOLIERS.

Those at Chicago Are Dressed In Gaudy Fourteenth Century Costumes.

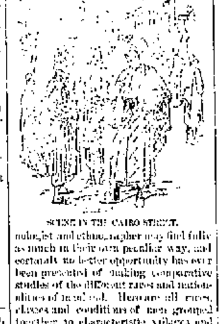
A GAY GONDOLIER.

[illegible] the gondolier does not [illegible] in Venice now, [illegible] to dress these gondoliers of the present day as [illegible] were dressed [illegible] instead of in the sombre black which the present Venice prescribes. Consequently there all no garments unsightly and gorgeous, commingling of gaudy colors.

The trousers are striped red and white and reach only to the knee, where they are tied by bows of variegated ribbon and where the [illegible] of royal purple descend to the [illegible] slippers. A red jacket [illegible] with golden trimmings and long [illegible] red and blue sleeves puffed at the shoulders and elbows covers the torso, leaving open a vest [illegible] set with a golden [illegible]. An extravagant sash is about the waist, and upon the head is a cap of red, with a turkey feather held in front with a brass pin. The gondolas adhere for the most part to the [illegible] and black which the gondoliers have discarded, but they are very gorgeous, with [illegible] curtains and [illegible] fittings, and the four big ones are magnificent enough to have belonged to the [illegible] and wealthy [illegible] of the golden age of Venice.

A Glimpse of the Orient.

Those who go to the World's fair chiefly for amusement will probably devote their time largely to the Midway plaisance, and certainly they will not miss pleasure in so doing. But the ethnologist and ethnographer may find fully as much in their own peculiar way, and certainly no better opportunity has ever been presented of making comparative studies of the different races and nationalities of mankind. Here are all races, classes and conditions of men grouped together in characteristic villages and illustrating all the phases of the lives they lead at home. Here are Turks and Egyptians, Algerians, Arabs and Soudanese, Japanese, Javanese and Dahomeyans, Maoris, Eskimos, Laplanders and Indians.



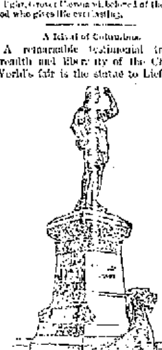
SCENE IN THE CAIRO STREET.

The reproduced street in Cairo is a specialty, with booths and bazaars exactly like those of the Egyptian city, and in them may be purchased anything from a cigarette to a costly rug. Then there are the dancers in the theater, and the jugglers and snake charmers, all decked out in their gaudy finery. Here also is an exact reproduction of the temple of Luxor, which was built by Amenoph III about 1570 B. C. On the walls are sculptured battle scenes and other pictures in the ancient style, and before the entrance are two obelisks similar to the famous Cleopatra's needle. They are 75 feet high and 4 feet square at the base. One of them has an inscription in the hieroglyphic language dedicating it to the president, who is thus addressed in the ancient idiom like a pharaoh:

Horus, the powerful bull, beloved of Justice and Truth, rich, strong and [illegible] vigilant, lord, the [illegible] of the United States of America, offspring of the god of light, Grover Cleveland, beloved of the great God who gives life everlasting.

A Rival of Columbus.

A remarkable testimonial to the breadth and liberality of the Chicago World's fair is the statue to Lief Ericson, who, the Norsemen claim, discovered America [illegible] before Columbus did. The statue exhibited in Chicago is a copy of that standing in Back Bay park, Boston, which was erected in 1887.



STATUE OF LIEF ERICSON.

The Sacred White Elephant.

The Buddhists venerate a white elephant. According to their religion a man lives twelve times on earth, his soul returning after each death to some animal, beginning with some of the lower varieties, like a serpent, a crocodile or a wolf, and then after he dies afterward becoming an animal of a higher type. In this way there is a gradual progression of the soul until it reaches the animal representing the highest type of all, which is the white elephant.

They claim that the founder of their religion came back to earth twelve times, and is the only one who eventually succeeded in getting to heaven. The last six times he was on earth his spirit was incarcerated in one of these elephants, and his spirit, shining through the flesh of the animal, made it white, a color which the animal has retained up to the present time.

SOME women were backward about favoring cremation because they feared that [illegible] to the death it gave [illegible].

Plowing with Dynamite.

A [illegible] inventor has just perfected a method of plowing with the aid of dynamite. The explosive is used in very small quantities and there is an apparatus for feeding it [illegible]. The result of this is to thoroughly disintegrate the soil. It is asserted that there is no possibility of serious explosion, and that owing to the small quantity of dynamite used the cost is very little, while the resulting benefit is enormous.

OLD GOLD.

Much Not Only [illegible] Interesting [illegible].

In the face of the gold famine, old gold [illegible]. It is bought [illegible] mechanical purposes [illegible] of the gold [illegible].

Old gold [illegible] monetary value but [illegible] interesting suggestions [illegible] the shape of [illegible] as a wedding [illegible] have been held as precious by the bride who [illegible] it was worn and worn till it was worn away, it must have [illegible] in value.

The ring does not say [illegible] owner was happy or not. The gold may have bound together husband and wife, or it may [illegible] a widow with heaviness [illegible] like a galley slave chained [illegible] that she hated.

The ring tells none of these things; it is old fashioned and worn, and shows that it has seen long service. Perhaps it was worn by strangers, [illegible] superseded by another [illegible], perhaps, it was a [illegible] heirloom handed down from generation to generation.

The purchaser rubs it on a [illegible] stone until it leaves a yellow mark. [illegible] of nitric or compound acid [illegible] this mark so that the expert [illegible] can tell the purity of the gold. The [illegible] is carefully weighed and paid for at the rate, perhaps, of three or four cents a karat.

All sorts of curious things are sold for the precious metal they contain. Old watches that are broken beyond repair, old seal rings and rings that were once set with gleaming gems. A [illegible] locket once contained a miniature and probably holds the secret of a romance. A brooch is made of the [illegible] gold of over one hundred years ago, and still holds a lock of somebody's hair. It was bought, hair and all, and will go into the melting pot with its story untold.

Some of the gold comes already melted into lumps, some of it is the gold filling of teeth and dentist's scraps, and some of it is in form of old plates with artificial teeth still sticking to them. The old jewelry and [illegible] are melted down and refined, [illegible] into gold. The gold foil [illegible] by dentists and put into the teeth of their customers, and in most cases goes back into the ground with the owner of the teeth when he dies.

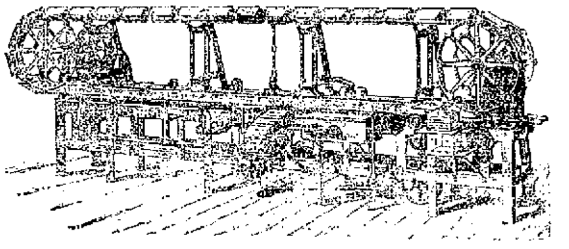
BOOKS LIKE THE ABOVE.

These Books Cannot be Obtained at Less Than the Wholesale Price in Any Other Way Than as Described Below

We take pleasure in announcing to our readers that we have made a contract whereby we can furnish them with standard books at absolutely less than wholesale prices. The books which we offer each week are by world famous writers and are printed from absolutely new type especially made for these works. The books are Bound by an Entirely New Process which does away with the old style of thread or wire binding. Each leaf is bound into the book separately and amalgamated with the whole, allowing the book to Lie Perfectly Flat when open, giving ease and comfort to the reader.

The following is an illustration of the new process perfect binding machine which does this work and the only machines in existence are owned and controlled by the publishers of these books.



This machine not only binds books without thread or wire but puts a cover on each book. It takes loose parts of the book and delivers the complete work bound at a rate of 1200 an hour.

Each week we will announce a new book in the following space. If you do not care for the work mentioned save your coupons as we will be sure to announce books which you will not fail to order. We change date each issue.

The other morning Officer Baseler found a little German girl of about ten years of age wandering about the streets of Bloomingdale. The little one could not speak a word of English and was endeavoring to find some friends. The officer questioned her and found that she had the address of the people she was looking for on a slip of paper. In a few minutes the officer had restored the lost child to her relatives. The child had traveled alone all the way from Germany and had been delayed on the road by taking the wrong train. It was a long trip for a little girl.

A pleasant surprise was tendered little Miss Ethel Rubel at her home, on East Buchanan street, last evening, and the genial little Miss entertained her guests in a happy manner. As a token of their love the guests presented Miss Ethel with a handsome set of gold earrings. Refreshments were served during the evening. WITH MILITARY HONORS

Major Weldon Will Be Buried in Beautiful Lindenwood.

His Surviving Army Comrades Preparing to March to the Beat of Muffled Drums in the Funeral Procession.

The remains of the late Major Frank E. Weldon will be buried tomorrow afternoon. It will be strictly a military funeral and all the military organizations in the city will participate.

Included in the list is George Humphrey Post, Anthony Wayne Post, Sion S. Bass Post, Union Veteran Legion, Fort Wayne Rifles, Zollinger Battery, Sons of Veterans, Boys' Brigade of the Congregational church and National Union.

The clerks in the various departments at the Pittsburg shops and the shopmen will also turn out in large numbers and take their places in the funeral ranks. The Sons of Veterans' drum corps, with muffled drums, will lead the procession from the house to the church, and thence to the cemetery.

The services will begin at the late residence of the deceased, No. 28 Douglas avenue, at 1:30 o'clock, when the remains will be taken to the Baptist Tabernacle. Rev. James Stuart Ainslie, assisted by Rev. Stephen A. Northrop, will officiate at the house and the church. The pall bearers will be chosen from the ranks of the Grand Army and the National Union, but the list is not yet complete.

The Boys' Brigade, of Plymouth church, will meet at the new church tomorrow at 12:45 p. m. to take part in the funeral of their late commander, Major F. E. Weldon. All other brigades of the city are invited to meet at the same place and participate with them in paying this last tribute of respect.

NABBED HIM IN.

A Lad Who Did Not Keep an Agreement.

Henry Welton Taken Up at the Knightstown Reform School—May Be Pardoned Out.

Henry Welton, a young boy who was sent to the Reform school at Knightstown some years ago and afterwards conditionally released on his promise to abstain from all evil company and deeds, is again confined in that institution. It appears that one of the conditions of the release was that Henry was to write to the superintendent of the school semi-monthly, and this duty the young man neglected. A week ago last Sunday Henry went to Indianapolis with the Lutheran excursionists. En route home he stopped off at Knightstown with two companions to visit the institute, and while there the superintendent took him to task for his omission of the letter writing duty. Not satisfied with Henry's explanation the superintendent ordered him to remain and he was forced to do so. During Henry's release from the school he worked in the Pittsburg boiler shop and was considered a very well behaved lad. His father will endeavor to get a pardon for his son from Governor Matthews.

VILLAINOUS ASSAULT.

John Finley Cuts and Kicks John McSheehan.

When Captured He Wanted to Kill Sheriff Clausmeier and a Small Boy—A Tough Customer.

A cowardly assault, apparently without provocation, was made this morning on John McSheehan, a laborer, by a man named John Finley.

About 11 o'clock McSheehan was lying in the shade asleep in the rear of Carnahan's warehouse on Clinton street. Finley seeing him there went up and raising his heavy boot gave McSheehan a frightful kick in the face. The fellow then sprang upon the prostrate man and used him up badly, cutting his head with a knife and otherwise injuring him. No one but a little boy and a lady saw the fight. Finley left his man for dead and ran. In a few moments the injured man revived and started to crawl to his boarding house. He had to be assisted, however, as he was badly hurt. The doctor was called and dressed the injured man's wounds, which, although painful, are not considered dangerous.

In the meantime Sheriff Clausmeier had been notified, but when he arrived Finley had made his escape. The sheriff, accompanied by Deputies Harrod and Myers, got into a buggy and started after the fugitive. He was captured north of the city, near the orphan asylum. The fellow showed fight, but was overpowered. Upon his person was found a sharp knife.

Finley proved to be an ugly customer and when identified by the lad who saw him kick McSheehan swore he would kill the boy. He also wanted to kill the sheriff and seemed determined to have some one's blood.

He was fined for drunkenness and sent to jail to await the result of his victim's wounds.

The Street Car Men's union held a meeting last night, the chief purpose of which was considering the discharge of a conductor named Noble, whose dismissal by the company, it is said, was based on the charge that he did not comply with the company's rules at the Pittsburg crossing.
